

Transition Planning

Resources and Websites

- Employment Manual – Office of Developmental Programs
- Transition Research Institute in Illinois – Research and training about effective transition practices. Includes list of model transition projects in each of the United States – www.ed.uiuc.edu
- National Longitudinal Transition Studies – Summaries of data from the NLTS2 – 2 – www.nlts2.org
- NICHY National Dissemination Center – Transition guidelines publications available – www.ncest.org
- National Center on Secondary Education and Transition (NCSET) – Website about strategies for improving transition planning – www.ncset.org
- National Joint Committee on Learning Disabilities – Articles available about strategies for effective transition planning for students with learning disabilities – www.ldonline.org
- AAIDD – Formerly AAMR, provides information and advocacy regarding individuals' with intellectual disabilities. Includes links to local chapters – www.aaidd.org
- ARC of the United States – Information and advocacy regarding people with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Includes links to local chapters – www.thearc.org
- TASH – Information and advocacy for people with disabilities, particularly severe and multiple disabilities. Includes links to local chapters – www.tash.org
- New Freedom Initiative's Online Resources – Federal interagency website to give access to information and resources for people with disabilities – www.disabilityinfo.gov
- PaTTan – Training and education for school districts in Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania Department of Education website links to PaTTan and to transition issues – www.pde.gov
- Growing up: Transition to adult life for students with disabilities – Complete guide and book on transition planning. Steere, D., Rose, E., & Cavauiolo, D. (2007). Allyn & Bacon; Boston, MA.